Judge Sets Fines On Striking Union And 12 Members

$400 Contempt Penalty
Against Union; Members
Fined $50 to $100

The Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, Local 7-663, and 13 individual members, were found guilty Friday in circuit court at Edwardsville of contempt of court for violating terms of injunction imposed in behalf of the Union Starch & Refining Co. two months ago.

Circuit Judge Howard White of Jerseyville fined the union $400, gave one union member a suspended 30-day jail sentence, and assessed individually named members with fines picketing and alleged acts of violence and vandalism. The specific acts charged had been prohibited in an injunction writ issued in circuit court last Friday.

Judge White's ruling culminated five days of testimony over a two-week period under a petition filed by Union Starch attorneys. The union had sought an injunction against 23 individuals named members with mass picketing and alleged acts of violence and vandalism. The specific acts charged had been prohibited in an injunction writ issued in circuit court last July 12.

Judge White levied the 30-day jail sentence against Joseph Anderson, a union member who the judge said "was in the wrong place at the wrong time" in too many instances. Anderson had been named in company allegations of picketing and an economic strike settlement.

In the past, negotiating sessions had broken up earlier, sometimes in a matter of minutes, with no headway made and little or no discussion of the issues. Three major topics are in-

Thirteen robberies, burglaries, thefts and attempted break-ins were reported throughout the Quad-City area during the weekend, including a daylight grocery store holdup in which $1000 was taken.

A bandit trio, two armed with 22 caliber pistols, staged a day-light robbery at the Venice Food Market, 1001 Douglas street, about 15 minutes before closing. Total $1000 and a switch knife were recovered, Harry Steiner, The triad in Steiner's 1963 auto.

The loot also included an undetermined number of money orders.

Two women customers of the store were not injured.

Steiner's car was found later that morning in East St. Louis where it had been abandoned.

Steiner, who lives in University City, Mo., told police he opened the store about 7 a.m. to customers who were young men, a young man, about 20 years old, entered and ordered four slices of cheese, 25 cent worth of bologna and a box of cigarettes.

A few minutes later, two other young men, also in their 20s, entered and the stickup was announced.

Two men flashed guns, demanded the car keys a second time, and herded Steiner and his wife into the rear room at the rear of the store.

The keys were found under the store counter along with the money orders.

Before fleeing, the trio yanked two telephones off the wall.

Steiner ran to a nearby home but could arouse no one. He then went a block to get a telephone to notify police.

He said all three bandits

Moral, social and spiritual betterment of the people within the Quad-City area is the purpose of the Protestant Welfare Association, an United Fund agency. It is comprised of 33 churches, their pastors, laymen and delegates-at-large who cooperate to bring compassionate understanding and immediate assistance to the families where there is such a need.

The objectives of the association are accomplished through

The agency is supported by the United Fund which will open its drive for funds next month and which has anticipated $300,000 in welfare group for the 1966 year.

The Protestant Welfare association has set up a budget of $22,513 for the year, but expects to receive $1420 from other sources and already has a bank balance of $383 from the 1964 year.

The agency anticipates total expenditures of $19,350 for the current year compared to actual expenditures of $18,500 last year. Total income and expense for 1964 year amounted to $20,159.

Protestant Welfare is a fast-growing organization and is now in its 12th year of serving the Quad-Cities in an emergency capacity. It has a membership of 33 churches, their pastors and laymen, plus 16 delegates-at-large, working together in the common cause of welfare assistance.

Type of assistance offered by the organization includes principally the distribution of food, rent, clothing, both new and used furniture and household articles, medical, utility bills, fuel, help to transients and counseling.

During the 12 months of 1964, the association gave 459 relief orders, compared to 435 in 1963. During the first four months of 1965 it distributed 133 relief orders, compared to 113 for the same period in the previous year. It distributed 101 orders for clothing from its store room during the four months of 1965, compared to a total of 281 for the entire month of 1964.

In 1964, the association gave away household articles and furniture having a total value of $1361, and gave away furnishings worth $248 during the first four months of 1965.

Up to April 30, 1965, the agency handled 132 cases involving 558 persons as compared to 134 cases involving 576 persons for the same period in 1964. In 1964, the association took care of 182 families in the Quad-City area, compared to 165 in 1963, providing food, clothing and toys. This was made possible through the cooperation of the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Churches and Civic organizations.

FAMILY COUNSELING is an added service of the Protestant Welfare Association, an agency of the United Fund offering emergency aid to Quad-Citians. Here Rev. Robert Baumann, St. Peter United Church of Christ, confers with a mother seeking advice.

Police Dogs in Action Viewed by GC Optimists

Two well-behaved, though vicious-looking German Shepherd dogs commanded the attention of Granite City Optimists when the animals appeared Thursday afternoon as a special program at the club's luncheon meeting in the YMCA.

The animals were from a group of 12 dogs, currently being trained by Delbert Landers, a member of the Granite City Downtown Investigation Service.

Glen Carlson. He was assisted by Lloyd Patterson of Venice, an SIU student, who works with him in the training program.

Landers, who operates the obedience training school, located on Highway 159, demonstrated the various techniques used in drilling the dogs to immediately respond to an attack.

He added that recently two dogs were obtained from his school by the Carbonado police department, which requested these particular animals not be over-aggressive types, as they may be used in situations involving large numbers of university students. Landers said the German Shepherd breed is noted for its high degree of intelligence and innate responsiveness to commands. Landers formerly operated a detective agency in Granite City.

The second part of Thursday's program was presented by John Solenberger, executive director of the Tri-Cities United Fund, who discussed the activities leading up to the start of the 1966 campaign. He also showed a film, entitled "Nobody's a Nobody," which detailed the work of the various service agencies and the assistance they provide within the community.

Thirty members were present for the meeting and one guest, Dr. A. H. Rode. The business session was adjourned.

Nine Years of Planning To Open SIU-SW Campus

Nearly a decade of planning and teamwork was culminated last week with the opening of the first classes on Southern Illinois University's new Southwestern campus.

The first two academic buildings are ready to accommodate an enrollment of up to 4,000 students, most of them upperclassmen and even graduate students who were still in the elementary schools when the drive for the campus started.

"Progress has been delayed at times along the way, but innumerable problems were overcome in planning, financing and building of a major campus far from the sod up," University President Delvte W. Morris commented.

In addition to the classrooms building and library students will be housed this fall in other buildings, including dorms for capacity students. During the year and architects and engineers planned the 260-acre campus site for an eventual enrollment of 20,000.

Rains Cause Problem

The problem has not all been resolved. For example, recent rains have interrupted the paving of parking areas. Too, many potential students have behind commuting range are being deterred by a housing shortage.

On the plus side, however, parents who viewed the new buildings for the first time a week ago were impressed with the results of the years of effort. Many of them have a personal stake in the campus by virtue of their contributions of time and money.

More than a score of foundations in which people of the area spurred development of the new facility "is an exciting story of democratic action unique in the education of minors."

In 1956, the acute need for public college instruction in the populous Illinois area found expression with the establishment of the Southwestern Illinois Council for Higher Education, composed Judge White's guilty verdict against the union was handed down at 11 a.m. Friday after attorneys had been given time to confer before the court again sat.

Company evidence was heard in court on Sept. 9 and 10 and again last week on Monday and Tuesday. Defense testimony was heard Wednesday, and was scheduled to resume Friday morning.

On the basis of testimony given in those sessions Judge White dismissed charges against ten of the respondents, several of them being the early hearings and the others Friday morning.

Just before court was scheduled to convene at 9:30 a.m. Friday, Attorneys F. E. Callis and Randal Robertson and Leo Konzen, representing the starch company, met in the judge's chambers.

Court didn't convene until a few minutes later. Judge White called for the proceedings to begin. At this point, Callis, who had said earlier he planned to present five or six union members as witnesses, told the court he had no further witnesses and that the respondent cases were completed. Robertson said he had no rebuttal testimony.

This completed the hearing and cleared the way for a court ruling.

Asks Roll Call

Judge White then called for a roll call of all respondents, and when informed that all respondents were present, remarked that "this is the hardest part of any case . . . when it becomes the duty of the court to render a decision."

The apartment of Mrs. Betty Chalmers, 2561 Washington avenue, was found occupied yesterday. There was no sign of fire damage.

Hahn, 2561 Washington avenue, a Granite City firefighter, Ray Romine, 2561 Cleveland Blvd., suffered cuts to his right knee as he crawled in the smoke-filled building. A large piece of broken glass on the floor, Romine was given emergency treatment at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Neighbors said the blaze started in the hallway at the rear of the building and spread to the vacant store rooms. Damage was set at $3500 to the building and $500 to the contents.

The apartment of Mrs. Betty Chalmers, 2561 Washington avenue, was discovered, but arrived later. Firemen were at the scene until 3:30.

Judge Fines

(Continued from page 1) members, is to be paid the court within 60 days after the striking starch plant workers return to their jobs. The judge added that the "fines must be paid."

Approximately 400 members of the union employed at the starch plant have been on strike since July 4 in disagreement over three major contract issues—wages, grievance procedure and craft reorganization. The strike has been marked by a number of incidents of vandalism and violence, including a dynamic bombing, threats to supervisory employees, overturning of company trucks, thorough and similar incidents according to police reports and charges by company officials. Also, the union has obtained an injunction against the company to prevent interference with picnics.

Attorneys Confer

Judge White suggested to union officials that "you assign this litigation somewhere else other than this place." It was also recommended that if the respondent came before the court again he would be required to serve the 30-day sentence without further hearing.

"The other people had conducted themselves in the same manner that you did," he said to Anderson. "Things would have gotten out of hand."

Anderson said, "It is difficult under such circumstances to hand out such sentences and fines, but that 'the law must be obeyed'—otherwise the law would break down."

In sentencing Anderson, Judge White said he desired to particularly commend the Granite City police department for the part it played on the morning of Sept. 7. The union, he said, had been threatening the police and the citizens of Granite City, owing to the police department a debt of gratitude for its action. If it had not handled the matter as efficiently as it did, the union could have gotten out of hand and sparked to other parts of the city and a riot could have been the result."

He also commended the attorneys and said he never had seen a case better handled in the interests of the clients than "in this case for both, the union and the management."

Stanley Vi lich, 74, Dies; Ill 3 1/2 Years

Stanley Vi lich, 74, a resident of the Madison Avenue nursing home for the past three-and-a-half years, died Sunday afternoon at St. Elizabeth Hospital where he had been a patient for nine days. Born in Pennsylvania, Mr. Vi lich moved to the local area since coming to this country in 1913. His wife, Emma, died in 1960. He is survived by a brother, Marks Vi lich of Thornton, Ill. Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

vice-president, and William Kee, chairman of the grievance committee, were ordered dismissed.

Judge White ruled further, however, that "there is no doubt that the union—as a union—was guilty of some of the acts alleged in the petition because it was engaged in the conduct of the acts of its members."

Man Reunited, By Mail, With His Children

How well read is the Press-

Within hours after a news item was published Thursday afternoon about an Arizona man seeking information on his children, three letters were on their way from two daughters and his former wife.

Roger S. Mansfield, Tempe, Ariz., sought the Press-Record's assistance in locating his seven children, now grown and aged 24 to 33, who were placed in foster care by the court because of his wife's death in 1946. He received custody of four when he remarried, but later became separated and then divorced. He obtained work elsewhere and had not been in contact with any of his family since the early 1950s.

His former wife, who resides in Granite City, has kept in touch with some of the children, and contacted several of them Thursday night.

She and two of the daughters, both residing in Collingsville, wrote Mansfield to supply what information they could on the family's whereabouts. He indicated in his letter to this newspaper that he hopes to arrange to visit them here.

The third daughter lives in Carlinville, and all three are married. One of the sons, the oldest, is stationed with the Army in Germany. A son, in the vicinity of the University of Guam, Grand Avenue, moved to Texas two months ago and the other two are believed to reside somewhere west of the Mississippi River.

"I read the Press-Record every issue, and I was certainly surprised to see the article Thursday," the former wife said recently.

truck $ should be carefully reviewed by the Department of Public Works and Buildings."

The mayor's concern is that if the second road project is delayed to the state spring bid letting, we will not be satisfied until nine months later, pushing the project to late 1966 or even into 1967.

The project is only the first step in the overall improvement of the area. A new road plan has been completed and is in the state's hands for the second portion—the widening of Nameoki road south from Madison avenue to Edwardsville.

Kronst pointed out last week that nearly a third of the 1700 miles of primary highways in the highway district, which includes Madison county, are outdated and unsafe. The project received about 15.5% of the state's highway funds, the third highest percentage in the state.

"The district's allocation of state funds also was cut this year, burned in part on the high cost of maintenance for the many primary roads built in the 1920s and 1930s."

Enrollment at New Campus Extended through Wednesday

Southern Illinois University, which opened the doors of its new Springfield Campus to a selected group of students for the first time this fall, widened those doors for all qualified students Friday to give four days of grace to complete registration.

Classes started on the new campus last Thursday with over 3000 students enrolled, or about one-third of the capacity of the two academic buildings now in use. Academic buildings now in use, independent weather, a temporary interruption in paving of the parking lots, and students' lack of knowledge of the geography of the new 2000-acre campus were blamed for keeping enrollment below the expected 4000 mark.

Due to these handicaps the registrar's office decided to continue registration through Wednesday and to suspend all late registration fees. Registrar John Schnabel, explaining the difficulties that some students have experienced, said that the enrollment center, for example, was moved the day before classes started into the heart of the new campus buildings from the location one mile distant—where it has been since 1957.

Unforeseen Problems

Such experience was typical of the first day of classes at the new campus. Moves of academic offices in various heads and various service departments, though planned months in advance, were subject to whims of the weather and the location of the new docks where furniture was being moved into the new buildings.

Surprisingly, students and faculty seemed to be the least concerned. Most of them had transferred from SIU-SW to the new classrooms at Alton and East St. Louis. It appears now that the new campus would be able to accommodate more freshmen and sophomores than it was thought possible a month ago.

Meanwhile, the architect's office is hopeful that one 300-car parking lot will be ready by this week and that several days respite from rain will allow the opening of other lots to start next week.

On the first day of classes over 1000 meals were served in the new dining room, a full scale operation in the library building, while upstairs a great many students already were using the row upon row of books to get their studies off to a good start.

Change in Scheduling
It was intended that the classrooms at the new campus would be used originally for upperclassmen for the most part, and that freshmen and sophomores would take their classes in the 100-seat classrooms at Alton and East St. Louis. It appears now that the new campus would be able to accommodate more freshmen and sophomores than it was thought possible a month ago.

RECORD CORN CROP EXPECTED THIS YEAR

Better on-the-farm management avails itself of the problems caused by a corn crop at harvest time. The record crop may cause a shortage of storage and shipping facilities.

How big the problem will be this year is not known, but enough can be done to prevent another jam-up. Farmers should be alert and plan ahead if they want to avoid being stranded with several thousand bushels of corn and no place to store it.

Here is what you can do ahead of time:

- In the local elevator manager know about how much corn you will be bringing in. Have an understanding with him as to how you will be treated when the boxcar shortage hits. If you agree to sell the elevator, will your corn be accepted or refused as a boxcar shortage occurs?

If the elevator must refuse space in the event of a severe shortage, then determine whether other commercial storage space is available within reasonable distance.

Decide now how you want to store the crop this year—sell the first part of the harvest and store the second part, or store first and sell later.

The dinner is given each year to welcome the new teachers in the area and the school administrators.

The annual teacher-clergy dinner sponsored by the Quad-City Ministerial Association was held Thursday evening at First United Presbyterian Church. The 128 guests attending were served by the Union Presbyterian Women.

Rev. Paul Pic of St. Louis was the guest speaker; Miss Jean Farrell, and Rev. Mrs. Carl Johnson.

In his talk Rev. Pic, director of the City Hospital, The Extent operated under the auspices of the Metropolitan Federation of Churches of greater St. Louis, made a plea for punctuation of such places as Gas Light Square, prison, and other places for the rehabilitation of persons and to relate them to God.

He also asked for understanding, the acceptance of these individuals as equals, for them to be leaders. Farmers have taken an interest in the long-neglected size range this fall. Many designs, the Eaton suit, for example, is from London influence.

Both ladies and gentlemen wear classic wide collars, wide cuffs, heathers and wools and durable wide-wide corduroys, denim and bonded knits. Stay-pressed finished. But the most popular look for both is created by the softness of velvet. Some lines carry classics in velvet coordinated for brother and sister. Gentleman wear hopsack jackets with matching linings.

According to a report in a retailer's newspaper, the new trend in women's apparel directs to have children's wear reflect their sophisticated and cultural background. Watch next spring for further advances in this direction.

TERRAZZO FLOORS

"The Community Glory Road" will be the topic of the featured speaker, Dr. Carl S. Winters, General Motors Corp. lecture staff consultant. A keynote speaker for over 800 state, national and international conventions, he has spoken in every major world capital.

Next sow a good legume-grass mixture that is adapted to your soil, climate and farming operation. Control the weeds, and don't overgraze early in the first season.

A renovation program may pay off. Carefully controlled experiments have demonstrated that it is possible to more than double the market price of an acre of pasture by renovation.

More details on the steps in a successful pasture renovation program are included in the Illinois Forage Handbook, written by specialists in the University of Illinois College of Agriculture. Copies of the handbook can be obtained at the farm adviser's office.

Fair Split from AG
Gov. Kerner has announced details of the separation of functions of the Illinois State Fair and Illinois Department of Agriculture.

The governor said that the Department of Agriculture will move its headquarters from the Illinois building to the new Junior Livestock building at the Illinois State Fairgrounds.

All land west of 9th street to North 5th street, south to Sangamon avenue, and north to the corner of 9th and 10th streets. The department will retain jurisdiction over all buildings within this area.

The Illinois state fair will take jurisdiction over all buildings and land to the east of 9th street at approximately the location of the Emmerling building, which will remain under the jurisdiction of the department. The buildings and land to the west of 8th street will continue to be used during the Illinois State Fair for fair and other scheduled activities.

The physical separation is an outgrowth of legislation passed by the Illinois General Assembly which legally separates the activities and functions of the department and the state fair.

Slow Learner?

A novel experiment in the rehabilitation of delinquents has reached a milestone with the first graduation of the "slow learners" from the Job Training Center of the Illinois Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, at Decatur.

Less than 18 months ago, the young man, 16, was tested and classified as being physically unable to perform his regular school work, and lacking in the ability to achieve past the fifth grade.

Today, having completed the vocational training course at Decatur in record time, he is in a western state as a management trainee with a nationally known shoe manufacturer. After approximately three months, he is managing the shoe repair section.

In spite of the "slow learner" tag, he was given vocational training or work experience prior to his commitment, completed the 40-week shoe repair program at Decatur in only 30 weeks.

Water Pipe Study

Two hydrologic engineers at the Illinois State Water Survey in Urbana have been doing laboratory work that may help to keep water bills down.

Scale encrustation on the inside of pipes makes it more expensive to get water through them because it cuts down the amount of water the pipes can carry.

The survey is an attempt to find both chemical and velocity requirements that will put a protective coating on the inside of the pipes. The coating should be thin enough so that the pipe itself does not become too brittle.

"We hope that this new law will help to ease the burden of the farmer," he said, "overcome his understandable reluctance to permit sportsmen to go on his property," Lodge said.

Inquest Tonight in Death Of Mrs. Jessedell Daech

An inquest is to be conducted at 6 p.m. today by Coroner Robert Thomas in the Aug. 23 death of Mrs. Jessedell Daech, 39, who was found dead in bed at her apartment at 2317 Delmar avenue.

Chief Coroner W. W. Billings last week he suspects murder, and an investigation is being conducted by Granite City police. The apartment had been rented for Mrs. Daech, a divorced mother of three children, two weeks earlier by Fred Daech, 40, of East Alton, according to police.

Chief of Detectives George Tellier said five persons have been interviewed and three polygraph tests have been run with negative results.

Seek to Trace Movements

Mrs. Daech's whereabouts are known to her employer since Aug. 22, and anyone having seen her after that time is estimated to notify police. It was estimated she had been dead about 10 hours when found late on the afternoon of Aug. 23.

Other residents of the apartment building said they had not seen her during the day. She was found by her landlord, who had been summoned. Mrs. Daech was dressed in pajamas and was in bed, covered by a sheet up to her waist.

Dr. Billings said an autopsy showed chlorine and wood alcohol were in her stomach and bloodstream. A late search of the premises failed to turn up any of the chemicals in the apartment.

Mrs. Amy Urih, 75, Dies Suddenly at Home

Mrs. Amy Laird Urih, 75, of 2337 East 25th street, Anchorage Homes, was pronounced dead at home about 12:45 a.m. Sunday after suffering an apparent heart attack. Deputy Coroner Robert Thomas was called to the scene.

Laird and his wife found Mrs. Urih in bed when they arrived. Mrs. Urih wanted to get up, and as Mrs. Urih helped the elderly woman, Mrs. Urih began gasping for breath and died.

Mrs. Urih was a native of Johnson County, Ill. She was a member of the Women of the Moose. Her husband, George, died in 1961. She has survived by another son, Homer, and Laird, a Granite City street department employee; six grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in today's obituary column.

THE PASTOR SPEAKS

Madison First United Presbyterian Church

Ours is a very security-conscious age.

New union contracts and growing rates are done by insurance companies today to this security consciousness.

Perhaps the depression of the '30s has contributed to this obsession with security.

Whatever the case, current trends demonstrate the fact that modern man cannot live in a tension of insecurity.

Effect On Values

This has been a tremendous impact on modern man's system of values. Insecurity drives people to materialism, and material values become the all embracing concern.

Christ raised an important question about this issue: "Is not life more than meat, and the body than raiment?"

Is not the simple fact of being alive something to be thankful for? Is it not a great blessing in itself to even begin to think of whether we have anything fancy to dress it with? Yet, the fact is that without a great deal of care and a fair amount of chancing, many people would feel that they had nothing to live for.

And, of course, it does not stop there; add to the steak and clothing, add to the steak and clothing, ing homes, autos, boats and the many other things that we regarded a short time ago as luxuries.

Cause Of Confusion

The obsession with the material leads to a confusion of values. First things are put last, and last things are put first.

A man doesn't live long before he realizes the truth of Christ's words: "Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceeds out of the mouth."

Man's crying need today is to rediscover the spiritual foundations of his life. At his own expense, man has become a worshipper of strange gods. He has founded his life upon the material.

And since the dollar has become his bread and butter, he spends his time toiling and spinning, fretting and worrying about expanding his material empire.

Prayer For Spiritual

"Seek ye first the Kingdom of God, and His righteousness," said Christ.

It would be an error to view the issue in oversimplified terms. Madison county residents are not in their interest in history, conservation and parks and natural development. It would be a cruel and unnecessary disservice to them and their children and grandchildren to virtually destroy such a large and otherwise ideal industrial growth area by denying vital river access.

Exploration by Lewis and Clark was of great value to this country. Commemoration of their 9000-mile trek should likewise remain within the confines of public service and betterment.

No Need For Fiscal Agent In Planning School Bonds

Madison school officials are right in deciding to sell the bonds competitively if school district voters approve a bond issue program this fall. The proposed half-million-dollar construction work involves additions to Madison high school and Dunbar school board meeting.

While on the subject, we would suggest that the district not hire a fiscal agent, a step discussed but not given final approval at last week's Madison school board meeting.

The experience of many school districts has been that their local banking officials were both capable of providing the necessary financial advice and were willing to do so without charge; after all, the banks are taxpayers and are interested in seeing governmental agencies avoid unnecessary expenditures.

We are sure that Quad-City bankers would be happy to work with Madison school officials in determining the size of the bond issue, the bond and interest schedule, the best time for sale of bonds and similar information.

There remain the more important values of the spirit: justice, conscience, truth, integrity, love, for one's neighbor and peace with one's self. In these things are to be found human destiny and fulfillment.

His hospital could have taken care of him, but would not. Why?

We can give boys guns and industry is complicated by many other conditions causing injustice and conflict. But there must be justice for all, most of all the poor.

MRS. CAROLYN WOLDEMAN, 4024 Willow Lane

(Editor's note: A St. John Hospital spokesman said that in military cases, treatment is given at the Army Depot. Elizabeth Hospital or Scott Air Force Base are the nearest hospitals to the given by the Army Depot, as the nearest military installation, based on the urgency and type of treatment.)

Overall Public Good Must Be Considered In Deciding Size Of Lewis And Clark Park

Inspection of the Lewis and Clark park by the national Lewis and Clark Trail Commission Thursday will be a welcome development. Because the famed 1804-06 Louisiana Territory expedition by Meriwether Lewis and William Clark began on the Illinois side of the Mississippi River, it is fitting that the park be included in this region, even though the exact starting point no longer exists.

At the same time, we hope that this week's commission hearings do not prompt an acceleration of the effort to expand the existing park beyond a reasonable and limited size.

Suitable recognition and marking of a historical site must not be carried to such an extreme that it prevents public access to such areas of acres as plant sites. This could seriously damage the future economic well-being of Madison county and its ability to provide adequate job opportunities.

It would be an error to view the issue in oversimplified terms. Madison county residents are not in their interest in history, conservation and parks and natural development. It would be a cruel and unnecessary disservice to them and their children and grandchildren to virtually destroy such a large and otherwise ideal industrial growth area by denying vital river access.

Junior College Plan Will Cost Quad-Cityans And Deserves Study

The new state junior college law confronts Quad-Cityans at a time when their attention is centered on the realization of a long-held goal—the opening last week of a local four-year state university.

Implementation of the new law since its signing July 12 has been handicapped by the lack of precise definitions. Even now, additional interpretations are being issued that alter its effect. But it is clear that it is going to cost every public school system: $50,000 for junior college tuition was included in the Granite City school tax levy adopted this month.

In addition to the tuition to be paid by school districts for their graduates attending junior colleges, Quad-Cityans through their state taxes will pay approximately 75% of the operating costs of recognized junior colleges.

With a major university located in the bluff area immediately east of this community, it may seem a duplication to consider a regional junior college. Yet the Illinois Board of Higher Education has stipulated that its universities must concentrate on securing the upper college grades, leaving most freshmen and sophomores to be served by junior colleges.

The whole subject thus merits thorough local study and discussion.

Discussions currently being held by school officials of Madison county and counties to the north and east indicate the possibility of an effort to create a local junior college district with a specific campus location still unconfirmed.

Because of the potential cost to property owners, and the presence of SIU-SW literally on our doorstep, Quad-City and Madison county participation would seem to be a mistake, based on the information available so far.

Lack of Information Basic Weakness Of The Zip Code

One of the principal reasons for dissatisfaction with the postal "zip code" is not so much the inconvenience of adding five numbers to each address, but the difficulty in knowing what those numbers should be. This aspect should receive increasing study as the government intensifies its requirements for zip code compliance in coming months.

Even assuming that all families, organizations and businesses are regularly recording the code numbers of all incoming mail to which they will be replying—and listing their own code when they give their return address—there will still be occasions when correspondence is necessary with parties in unknown zip code zones.

Maybe an "00000" code should be established as acceptable in such instances—or appropriate numbers added to all city and telephone directories so that unfamiliar zip codes can be ascertained.

Tax Cutting—1965 Style

Government economy and tax reductions are wonderful.

Somebody has figured up that a couple with two children and earning $6600 a year had their income tax cut $140 by the revisions of 1964-65. Next year, their social security contribution will rise $103 due to inclusion of medical care for the aged and increased old-age cash benefits. Under current social security, there is a further increase of $13 to be paid by them in 1967 and still another of $3 in 1969.

In other words, the federal government is going to put an extra $140 in one of their pockets and take an extra $149 from another of their pockets. It may work out fine—if they just don't run out of pockets.

Two-Man Crew at Work

Alley Clean Up Starts Today for All GC

An alley clean up program is being started today by a two-man street department crew. The crew will start in the older section of the city east of the railroad tracks and south of Nameoki road.

"It's going to take weeks and maybe even two months, but the task is completed.

The crew is to pick up all scattered debris, tree limbs, trash and even rocks that might be cluttering the alleys.

The mayor has Jack Fricker city inspector, and Lawrence Drury, assistant inspector, supervising the city clean up project that will go on through every alley in the city.

The mayor commented that he has noticed the deplorable condition of a number of alleys that are littered with debris, and that the better residents of the city will be cooperative in keeping trash out of the alleys once the task is completed.

"We're going to work on a daily basis to go through every street in every section of town," Fricker said.

The crew is to pick up all scattered debris, tree limbs, trash and even rocks that might be cluttering the alleys.

Hearings on gambling, prostitution, drug peddling and gang activities in St. Clair and Madison counties were started by Illinois Crime Commission in Illinois. Crime Commission in Illinois, today, climaxing an undercover investigation begun by county police agents last July. The hearings, being held in the city hall at Belleville, will continue through Tuesday.

Agents of the Crime Commission and Illinois state police seized $1 coin-operated pinball machines, slot machines and two distributing companies in the East St. Louis-Belleville area on Thursday as an aftermath of the investigation.

The investigation was prompted by a renewed drive by the Crime Commission to root out the multi-million-dollar Illinois pinball and slot machine racket. Investigation by the commission's agents is continuing in St. Louis and Belleville.

Charles Siragusa, executive director of the commission, revealed that the Capone syndicate has taken over control of some pinball and slot machines and is making determined efforts to extend their influence to every part of the state. The investigation will be extended to other sections of Illinois after it is completed in the St. Clair-Madison county area, Siragusa said.

A court of honor was held, with the four top leaders, scribe and recorder present, presided over by the leader. Work assignments were given out and each girl took a turn working on a chart.

Robbed of $90
A Fenton, Mo., man was robbed of $90 early Saturday when he was hit by a Brooklyn tavern with a left arm and was forced to go to Eagle Park to a party. Earl Malm Jr., 23, told county authorities that upon arriving at Eagle Park his new acquaintance was joined by four other men who threatened him with broken bottles. The $90 was taken from his wallet.

Five suspects were taken into custody later Saturday for questioning, and charges were to be filed today.

An Army Depot soldier told county authorities about 4:45 a.m. Sunday that he discovered $25 was missing from his wallet after it had been ejected from his girl friend's purse on the Chain of Rocks canal levee roadway near the locks.

The soldier, Pvt. James Mayes, said he had been dancing and drinking, then had driven to the canal levee because it became difficult to walk. His girl friend had come along and he had given her two pills, saying they were aspirin, and after taking them he became dizzy. He was ordered to get out of the car. While walking along the levee he discovered his wallet was missing. County authorities plan to question the girl friend.

Bandit Gets $75

A lone bandit, armed with a .22 pistol, held up Al Kirsh, 25, of 1620 Madison avenue, at the Derby Service station on Route 263, south of Madison, about 8 p.m. Friday and stole $75.

Kirsh said he was outside when the bandit walked up, forced him into a room in the station and took the money from his shirt pocket and wallet. The bandit fled on foot in the darkness.

He was described as being about 35 years old, five feet eight inches tall and weighing about 150 pounds. The robber was wearing a yellow jacket, light-colored pants and a dark hat. Kirsh said he believed the bandit also had a thin mustache.

Attempted break-ins at two Madison schools were reported Saturday night and early Sunday morning. In both cases police were used to search the Louise Barr school where a window was found open at 3 a.m. No one was located in the building.

At 10 p.m. Saturday a resident of a nearby home heard glass breaking at the junior high school. Police found the door glass at the top of a fire escape was broken. Entry was gained.

Kirsh, who forced open a door on the south side of the building looted the cash register at Vaughn's Drug store, 1830 Delmar avenue, Saturday night and stole $3.

Donald Vaughn, proprietor, discovered the break-in at 4:30 a.m. Sunday.

for the train at the middle tracks at the 11-track crossing.

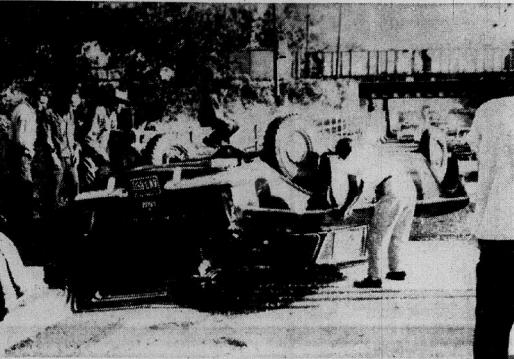

"Then the driver pulled around the car to cross the tracks. I yelled through the loudspeaker, 'Stop, a fast freight is coming.' The car was hit."

Freeman, who was working as a porter at St. Elizabeth Hospital to learn the identity of the victims interviewed a cousin of the Blankenship family. He was Gary Freeman, who lives along the Harford canal off Route 3.

Freeman said he was driving through Granite City and recognized the green and white auto.

He was at the unpleasant task of telephoning the parents of the victims.

Freeman said the trio had been to his house to visit him and were returning to St. Louis after finding out he was not at home. He called his parents and sister and through them was able to determine the names of the three young people in the car. Police also were trying to reach the parents by tracing the Missouri license number to Mrs. Dorothy

'Not Our Skunk Odor,' Fuel Co. Officer Says

An official of Mississippi River Fuel Corp. told the Press-Record last week that his firm has no drums of captan, the odor material injected into natural gas, in the vicinity of Washington school.

The spokesman said it has drums at several locations in the Quad-Cities, but that his firm was not responsible for the dismissal of Washington school pupils on Sept. 17 when a leak developed in a drum located in the vicinity of a nearby industrial plant.

"It must have belonged to another utility or the industry," the spokesman said.
